There is no other day in the year like a Football Saturday. That's especially true in Chapel Hill. There is just something special about those beautiful autumn afternoons in Kenan Stadium—the air is crisp, the stadium is a myriad of colors and the football is exciting.

Carolina fans are looking forward to the upcoming Saturdays with extra anticipation. There is a new coach, Dick Crum, running the Tar Heel football program and he has installed a new offense, the potentially explosive veer.

The purpose of this brochure is to serve as a guide for the new season. The information in this book is presented honestly, but with a tinge of optimism. Although there are some areas of concern, we feel Carolina will have another strong team this year. One thing is for certain—whenever the Tar Heels take the field, there will be plenty of excitement. We invite you to be a part of it.

Memo To The Media

Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be obtained by contacting Rick Brewer in the Sports Information Office. Brewer's mailing address is P. O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N. C. 27514.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working pressbox. Children, spouses and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

There are no Western Union facilities in the pressbox. The Athletic Department does furnish a number of telephones for writers to use in moving their copy. The Carolina Sports Information Office has one telecopier which will be available for sending copy. An operator's fee of $10 per game will be charged for its use. This fee will cover the cost of a student assistant staying late to send copy.

It is strongly suggested, however, that if at all possible, newsmen covering games in Kenan Stadium bring their own telecopiers. This will allow all copy to be moved more quickly and will alleviate any deadline problems.

Programs, flip cards and statistics will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game.

Lunch will be served on the third level of the pressbox before each game and at halftime. Soft drinks and coffee are available on the second level (writers' area) throughout the game.

Over 60 stations in three states will once again carry the Tar Heel Football Network. The Network is operated by Village Broadcasting of Chapel Hill with Jim Heavner as the producer. Woody Durham, the news and sports director at WRDU-TV, will handle the play-by-play with Heavner and Bob Holliday of WCHL Radio adding color commentary.

The Dick Crum Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. Durham serves as emcee for this program.

Each Tuesday during the season Crum will be available to the media at a press luncheon. Television and radio tapes can be done at 11:30 a.m. with the luncheon starting at noon in Kenan Fieldhouse.

Ferebee Taylor/Chancellor

It goes without saying that the chief administrator of one of America's outstanding universities is a very busy man. His responsibilities go far beyond the normal nine to five routine, including oversight of the entire academic and financial welfare of the university.

The chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Nelson Ferebee Taylor, is no exception. As chancellor of one of the country's leading research institutions and the South's finest university, his duties are not intended for the faint of heart or the lethargic.

Despite the burdens of his position, Chancellor Taylor finds time to be Carolina's number one athletic fan. He is a frequent visitor to Tar Heel locker rooms, congratulating coaches and players alike for outstanding efforts, win or lose.

The Chancellor's strong interest in athletics at Carolina is natural. It stems not merely from the fact that the Tar Heel intercollegiate athletic program is one of the most successful in the nation. It goes beyond that. Carolina's respected national reputation in teaching and research is matched only by the university community's avid interest in athletics, from both participants' and spectators' viewpoints. Kenan professors regularly interrupt their classes to talk about that week's football or basketball contest. The vast majority of the 20,000 students at the University participate in the intercollegiate or the extensive intramural program. At Carolina, academics and athletics go hand-in-hand in a manner few other universities can emulate. So, the thought of seeing Chancellor Taylor in Kenan Stadium on a hot August afternoon watching pre-season football practice is not surprising to those who understand the special role of athletics at Carolina.

The Chancellor is keenly aware of this role.

"At the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, we will continue to strive for excellence in our Athletic Department as we will in all other departments," the Chancellor says.

He feels that the Athletic Department is an important part of the total University and expresses a hope that all students will make use of what it offers, either as participants or spectators.

Now in his sixth year as chancellor, Dr. Taylor assumed the position on February 1, 1972, succeeding J. Carlyle Sitterson who had served in the post for six years. Dr. Taylor is the fifth chancellor in the University's history.

Immediately prior to being named chancellor, Dr. Taylor served for two years as vice president for administration for the Consolidated University of North Carolina system. He was a unanimous choice of the Board of Trustees to become the new chancellor of the Chapel Hill campus.

A native of Oxford, N. C., Chancellor Taylor is a graduate of Carolina, receiving his A.B. degree in American history in 1942. He was the first Herbert Worth Jackson Scholar at Carolina and served as the president of Phi Beta Kappa, making straight A's for three years.

As an undergraduate, he was also president of the University Club, speaker for the Student Legislature and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail.

The Chancellor served as a Navy midshipman in World War II and achieved the rank of lieutenant. He served aboard destroyers in both the Atlantic and the Pacific and was awarded the Bronze Star and two commendations.

After being released from active duty, he entered Harvard Law School and received his LL.B. degree Cum Laude in 1949. While at Harvard, he was the winner of Ames Competition in moot court activities.

Selected as a Rhodes Scholar, the Chancellor entered Balliol College at Oxford University, England, following his studies at Harvard. He received a B.A. in philosophy, politics and economics from Oxford in 1951 and his M.A. in 1955.

Admitted to the North Carolina bar in 1949 and to the New York bar in 1953, Dr. Taylor was associated with the firm of Arthur, Dry and Dole in New York City from 1951 to 1958. In 1958, he became a partner in the firm of Arthur, Dry, Kalish, Taylor and Wood.

He returned to Carolina in the spring of 1968 as a visiting professor of corporate law in the UNC Law School. On July 1, 1970, he assumed his duties with the Consolidated University's General Administration in Chapel Hill. In that capacity, he served as a legal advisor and acted as a liaison between the Board of Governors and its committees.

Since assuming the duties as chancellor, Dr. Taylor has placed special emphasis on the public service aspect of the University. Many short courses, workshops and special projects have been organized, serving the entire state of North Carolina and its people, as well as the students and residents of the university community.

Most recently, Chancellor Taylor received an honorary LL.D. degree from Duke University in 1977.

Chancellor Taylor is married to the former Louise C. Ellington, also of Oxford, N. C. They have three daughters—Louise, Sarah and Martha, all students at Carolina.

Bill Cobey/Athletic Director

In keeping with the youth movement present in the Department of Athletics at the University of North Carolina, Bill Cobey at 39 is one of the youngest athletic directors in America's major college ranks.

His age seems insignificant when one assesses the experience in athletic administration he brings to the position and the esteem with which he is held by other members of his profession. His 11 years in athletic administration at Chapel Hill and the success he has helped bring to Carolina athletics during his tenure here are all the credentials he need present to be considered one of the most respected young administrators in collegiate sports today.

Appointed to the athletic directorship February 1, 1976, Cobey is now in his third full year at the helm of the Tar Heel program. He succeeded Homer Rice in the position.

Responsible for Carolina's 25-sport athletic program, Cobey is a regular spectator at most Tar Heel sports events. Whether the sport is football, volleyball or soccer, if the Tar Heels are playing, Cobey can be expected to be in the stands. Cobey has put emphasis on a balanced athletic program with strong non-revenue teams.

The search procedure to find a successor to Rice was an elaborate process. Over 40 people connected with the Carolina athletic department had a role in the decision-making process.

"There was a clear consensus that Bill Cobey would make an outstanding director of athletics," Chancellor Ferebee Taylor says. "He is widely respected for his integrity and his knowledge of intercollegiate athletics.

"That consensus has certainly proven correct. He has done a great job of directing our athletic program. His appointment has insured continuity in the operation of our athletic program and maintained the fine traditions of Carolina athletics."

Before being appointed athletic director at Carolina, Cobey had been interviewed for high athletic positions by several other schools. He had always hoped to attain an athletic directorship at a major university.

Cobey has strong roots in collegiate athletics. His father was Jim Tatum's assistant athletic director at the University of Maryland. When Tatum came to Chapel Hill in 1956 to become head football coach, Cobey's father was named athletic director at Maryland. Cobey credits his father, Tatum and Rice for his success.

Like Rice, Cobey strives to stay out of the spotlight while getting the job done.

"The attention should go to our athletes and coaches," Cobey says. "Administrators don't need to get any fanfare.

"Our goal is to carry on the great tradition Carolina has had in intercollegiate athletics. We will always work toward maintaining a strong, overall program."

There has been absolutely nothing wrong with the Tar Heel program under Cobey's leadership. Carolina has captured the Carmichael Cup for over-all excellence in the Atlantic Coast Conference each of the last two years. During the 1977-78 school year, Carolina's men's teams won over 72 per cent of their contests and the women won over 68 per cent of theirs.

Cobey is only the fourth man in history to head Carolina's athletic department.

The late Bob Fetzer was Carolina's first athletic director, serving from 1922 until 1951. He was succeeded by the late Charles P. (Chuck) Erickson who held the post until his retirement in May 1968. Rice was hired to replace Erickson the following January.

Cobey is presently in his 11th year with the University. He held four posts in that time prior to becoming athletic director.

His initial position at Carolina was as academic counselor for Bill Dooley's 1968 Tar Heel football team. In that capacity, he advised players on their academic work, served as a counselor for personal problems and had duties as Dooley's administrative assistant. Cobey continued in that position until 1971, but also added the role of assistant athletic business manager in 1969.

In 1971, Cobey was elevated to assistant athletic director for operations. He was directly responsible for the running of Kenan Stadium and Carmichael Auditorium on the days of football and basketball games. He then served as Rice's chief assistant in the position of assistant athletic director for promotions and finance.

Cobey was graduated from Emory University in Atlanta in 1962 with a B.A. degree in chemistry. He was a Dean's List student there and served as president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity for two years. He followed that with an M.B.A. degree from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania in 1964. After a year as an administrative assistant for Suburban Trust Company in Hyattsville, Md., he worked with Dow Chemical Company in Midland, Mich. for a year.

He then returned to school at the University of Pittsburgh and earned a Master's degree in education in 1968. During his time at Pittsburgh, he took part in a graduate teaching internship in physical education and was an assistant football coach in the West Mifflin Area and Swissvale Joint School Districts.

A member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, Cobey has been very active in community affairs since coming to Chapel Hill. Past president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro YMCA, he played a key part in the drive to build a new YMCA building here. He is also a former assistant campaign chairman of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro United Fund. A past member of the Board of Directors of the Chapel Hill Chapter of the American Field Service, he is a member of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club.

He is married to the former Nancy Sullivan of College Park, Md. They have two children, Cathy, 12, and Billy 6. The Cobeys are members of the University United Methodist Church.

Dick Crum/H

The new head football coach at the University of North Carolina is Dick Crum, the latest in a long line of successful men from Miami University's "cradle of coaches."

Crum, 44, was named Carolina football coach last January. He replaced Bill Dooley who had resigned to become athletic director and head football coach at Virginia Tech.

Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, Crum had been head coach at Miami of Ohio for four seasons. He compiled an overall record there of 34-10-1.

In announcing the selection of Crum as Dooley's replacement, Carolina Chancellor Ferebee Taylor said, "Dick Crum was the unanimous choice of our nominating committee to be the new football coach.

"Coach Crum's outstanding record at Miami University speaks for itself and we are confident that, under his leadership, our football program will continue to maintain Carolina's high standards of excellence."

Tar Heel Athletic Direct Bill Cobey echoed the Chancellor's feelings.

"At Miami, Dick Crum demonstrated his ability to organize and direct a top-flight football program," said Cobey. "I don't think there is any doubt but that our football program is in very solid hands."

Under Crum, Miami won three Mid-American Conference championships and twice played in the Tangerine Bowl. The Redskins defeated Georgia, 21-10, in 1974 and South Carolina, 20-7, in 1975 in those post-season appearances.

Crum's Miami teams had records of 10-0-1 in 1974, 11-1 in 1975, 3-8 in 1976 and 10-1 last season.

Miami is known as the "cradle of coaches." Other former coaches at the Oxford school include Woody Hayes, Ara Parseghian, John Pont, Bo Schembechler and Bill Mallory.

Like all those men, Crum was extremely successful at Miami. He was selected Ohio Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1975, MAC Coach of the Year in 1974 and District Five Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1977. His 1974 squad finished the season ranked 10th in the wire service polls, the highest rating of any team in MAC history.

In his only losing season at Miami, the Redskins lost nine of their 11 starting defensive players in their first two games. After an 0-6 start however, Crum rallied his team to three wins in its final five games. The Redskins then capped that comeback by going 10-1 last fall, coming from behind eight times to win.

A key to Miami's success last fall was Crum's decision to change offenses. He dropped the I-formation in the spring of 1977 and switched to the veer. The Redskins went on to set a new school record for total offense last season.

However, Crum's Miami teams were mainly known for their defensive play.

"I think you win championships with good defensive teams," he says. "Fundamentals are also so important in football. If you play fundamental and sound football and don't make mistakes, you're going to win a lot of games."

And winning games is what Crum plans to do at Carolina.

"Coach Dooley did an excellent job of putting a solid program together here," he says. "My objectives are going to be much like his—produce the best team possible.

"The challenge of coming here is different than from going to a program that had to be built. This challenge is one of maintaining a program that is already on solid ground."

Crum had been considered for other head coaching jobs in his time at Miami. However, he had always asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

"I had been interviewed other places in other years," he says, "but I always left those meetings with very mixed feelings and emotions. After I interviewed at Carolina I had no such qualms. On the plane ride back to Ohio I told my wife, 'If they offer me the job, I'm going to accept.'

"The thing that influenced me more than anything else is the fact that Carolina is an excellent academic institution as well as a home of great athletics."

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Crum attended Boardman High School and then enrolled at Muskingum College. He later transferred to Mount Union College, where he received his B.S. degree in 1957, majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics. He also holds an M.Sc. from Western Reserve.

In football, Crum was a non-scholarship halfback. He saw most of his action with the B team and it was there that he learned of the great importance of fundamentals.

The first six years of his coaching career were spent as an assistant coach at Boardman High, Sandusky High and Warren Harding High, all in Ohio.

Crum accepted his first head football coaching position in 1963 at Mentor High School in Mentor, Ohio. He compiled a six-year record of 50-9-1, winning three league championships. His record in his last four seasons there was 38-2.

He joined Mallory's Miami staff as defensive backfield coach in 1969.

He was appointed defensive coordinator in 1970 and held that position until he succeeded Mallory as head coach in 1974. While he was defensive coordinator his teams ranked third, fifth, sixth and first in the nation in total defense. The Redskins also topped the nation in rushing defense in 1973.

Twice Crum was selected to serve as a head coach in the Ohio Shrine Bowl Game. He has also been on coaching staffs in the All-America Bowl and the Coaches' All-America Game. He has served on several committees of the American Football Coaches Association.

In his spare time Crum enjoys fishing and the outdoors in general. Each summer his family takes a two-to-four week fishing trip to Canada. Their vacation spot is in an area just north of North Bay.

Crum is married to the former Shirley Moncur of Delaware, Ohio. She is an Ohio University graduate with degrees in physical education and library science. They have three sons—Mike, 15, and twins, Jeff and Joel, 13.

What Crum Says About:

SPRING PRACTICE

"I think we made good progress during the spring. We worked primarily on fundamentals, both offensively and defensively. As the spring progressed, there was noticeable improvement. Defensively, we have good natural ability. The defense was quite consistent during the spring. Offensively, we started very slowly. Our running game picked up quite a bit, however, and should be a good one. But, we've got to keep working on our passing game to get it where we want it."

MIKE SALZANO

"Mike is the best offensive lineman with whom I've been associated in my coaching career. He leads by action. He's an excellent athlete and has all the ingredients to be a truly great player—size, speed and quickness. Plus, he's an outstanding technician. He certainly has to be considered a top All-America candidate."

SWITCHING FROM THE I-FORMATION TO THE VEER

"We've gone basically from power football to option football. Patience is required for a switch like that. I think our squad has picked up the new system fairly well. We made good progress in the spring, but we're still looking for a lot of improvement."

THE 1978 SEASON

"For most of the teams we play, we are THE team on their schedule. As a result, we can't afford to overlook anyone. It's a good schedule, a demanding schedule, one that offers a challenge."

KEN SHEETS

"A definite All-America candidate. He's a very steady player and a good leader. He's reliable and very physical. He's also a strong pass rusher. He works hard and comes to play."

THE QUARTERBACK SITUATION

"It's still up in the air right now. Matt Kupec opened the spring as the starting quarterback based on the fact he finished as the starter last year. He was hard-pressed by Clyde Christensen throughout the spring with P. J. Gay and Mickey Daniels also in the race.

"Each player has his strong points. Whoever the starter is, we feel he will be a much better quarterback because of the competition he's faced."

AMOS LAWRENCE

"Amos Lawrence is a very good inside and outside runner. I think the thing that fools people about him is that he often doesn't look like he's running fast, but he's actually flying by people. He has the ability to turn a bad play into a good one. He was a veer back in high school so that transition has not been a difficult one for him.

"As far as the future goes, it will be what Amos wants it to be. We will probably never see him reach his full potential in his four years at Carolina. He has so much potential that he will continue to get better and better as long as he wants to improve."

THE FRESHMEN

"We feel that we have a good class of incoming freshmen. In most instances, they will make their initial contributions in backup roles. But, if we find a player good enough and mature enough to handle a starting job, we'll play him.

"The one exception is Jeff Hayes whom we expect to handle the kicking. But, he's a specialist and doesn't have to physically defeat someone for a position."

BEING THE HEAD COACH AT CAROLINA

"It's a challenging job and I like it. Since I've been here I've tried to get around the state as much as possible and meet people. There is a great deal of enthusiasm and spirit and I think I've only begun to appreciate the deep love our fans have for our teams and our university.

"I like to be able to represent an institution like Carolina that has an excellent academic reputation as well as great athletics. When we go into a home to recruit a young man, we have a great deal of fire power with the academic program offered here. If the recruit and his parents are truly interested in the young man being a student-athlete, and I emphasize student as well as athlete, then they are going to pay very close attention to what Carolina has to offer.

"I really haven't had that much time to sit down and reflect about this being our first fall at Carolina. The move here has been quite easy because the staff and I feel so comfortable with the administrators, staff, faculty, Chapel Hill community and the state."

Prospectus

Twelve returning starters, four top all-star candidates and a new coaching staff should make the 1978 football season a most interesting and exciting one at the University of North Carolina.

Carolina posted an 8-2-1 record last fall, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and earned a berth in the Liberty Bowl. It was the sixth post-season appearance for the Tar Heels in the last eight years.

Many of the stars on that team are back this season, giving Carolina high hopes for another strong team.

Heading the list of returnees are four players who were All-ACC selections last year and rank as legitimate All-America candidates this season. Those players are offensive guard Mike Salzano of Durham, N. C.; outside linebacker (defensive end) Ken Sheets of Woodbridge, Va.; runningback Famous Amos Lawrence of Norfolk, Va.; and linebacker Buddy Curry of Danville, Va.

Other players who also could contend for all-star honors are nose guard Dave Simmons, offensive tackle Bobby Hukill, outside linebacker T. K. McDaniels, defensive tackle Bunn Rhames and a trio of defensive backs—Bobby Cale, Bernie Menapace and Ricky Barden.

Despite the return of all these players, there will be some changes in the Tar Heel football program. Dick Crum, who guided Miami of Ohio to a 34-10-1 record over the past four years, has replaced Bill Dooley as head coach. Crum has brought an entirely new coaching staff with him to Chapel Hill.

Under Crum, Carolina will continue to play a 52 defense. Offensively, the Tar Heels will switch to the veer from the "I", a formation they ran all 11 of Dooley's seasons.

Crum's Miami teams were mainly known for their defense, however, and Carolina has the ability to be an outstanding defensive team. The Tar Heels led the nation in scoring defense last season, giving up just 81 points in 11 games. Carolina also led the ACC in every defensive category.

If the defense is to again be solid, replacements must be found for All-America tackle Dee Hardison, All-ACC tackle Rod Broadway, linebacker Bobby Gay and All-ACC strong safety Alan Caldwell.

Despite the loss of Hardison and Broadway, Carolina's front five should be exceptionally strong. Sheets is a 6-3, 220-pound senior with tremendous natural ability at one flank. He is an explosive player who makes the big plays, but also does the small things well. McDaniels, a 6-3, 229-pound senior, is also a returning starter at this position. He has fine quickness for a man of his size.

Simmons is a potential all-star at nose guard. He has tremendous quickness and makes a lot of plays in pursuit. He had a solid junior season and should be even better this fall.

Rhames, a 6-2, 242-pound senior, and Donnell Thompson, a 6-4, 250-pound sophomore, were the backup tackles last fall and should start this season. Both have good ability.

The major problem in the line is a lack of experienced backup help. Young players like Harry Stanback, Mike Argo, Bob Duncan, John Brugos, Keith James and Paul Davis are being counted on to provide much-needed depth.

The other major problem on defense is finding another inside linebacker to play beside Curry. Curry had a sensational sophomore season. He made big plays every week and was voted Carolina's top defensive player in the Liberty Bowl. Battling for the other starting linebacker spot are Rick Downs, Lawrence Taylor, Steve Taylor and Larry Tedder.

Barden, Cale and Menapace are set at three spots in the secondary. All played very well last season and should contend for All-ACC honors.

Best bets for Caldwell's old starting job are senior Francis Winters, who had a great spring, and sophomore Steve Streater. Max McGee, Tyress Bratton, Jay Faulkner and David Singleton will supply backup help.

Offensively, Carolina has the potential to be explosive. Lawrence gives the Tar Heels a back capable of scoring from anywhere on the field. He ran for 1,211 yards in 10 games last season, although he started only the last six. He finished eighth in the nation in rushing.

Famous Amos broke Tony Dorsett's single-game freshman rushing record by gaining 286 yards against Virginia. He is a 186-pound speedster who should be an even greater threat in the veer than he was in the I-formation

There are a host of candidates for the other runningback slot. Senior Ken Mack had a superb spring and will begin the fall as the starter. However, he will be pushed for that job by Billy Johnson, Doug Paschal, Walter Sturdivant, Terence Burrell and Phil Farris.

Matt Kupec, a junior from Syosset, N. Y., returns for his third year as the starting quarterback. Kupec threw for seven touchdowns last season, completed 56.2 per cent of his passes and was the most valuable player in the Liberty Bowl. Senior Clyde Christensen, junior P. J. Gay and transfer Mickey Daniels could challenge him for the job if Kupec has problems adjusting to the veer.

The race for the three receiving positions is wide open. The starting wide receivers will probably come from a group that includes Jim Rouse, Delbert Powell, Carey Casey and Wayne Tucker. Bob Loomis, a two-year starter at fullback, has been shifted to tight end and is competing with Rick Vanhoy, Jimmy Roberson, Kenny Rogers and Mike Chatham for that job.

Carolina has long been known for its great offensive lines and this year's unit could be another excellent one. The key man is Salzano, a third-team All-America last year, whom Crum calls "a superior football player." He's big, strong and quick. The new Tar Heel coach rates the 6-4, 242-pound Salzano "a definite All-America candidate."

Other returning starters in the line are Bobby Hukill, a 6-5, 248-pound senior tackle, and Steve Junkman, a 6-4, 241-pound junior tackle. Hukill will be starting for his third season and is probably the finest tackle in the ACC.

Sophomore Rick Donnalley of Raleigh, N. C. should replace graduated Scott Davison at center. He could be a future superstar. John Rushing, who started at the guard opposite Salzano last year, has been ruled out for the season because of a knee injury suffered last fall. Sophs Lowell Eakin and Donald Lucas, who played some last year, will battle for that spot.

Placekicker Tom Biddle, who holds all of Carolina's kick-scoring records, and punter Johnny Elam have graduated. Incoming freshman Jeff Hayes is being counted on to replace Biddle. Loomis or Streater could be the punter.

Goal Line Analysis

OFFENSE

ENDS

These positions were hit hard by graduation. Both starters from last year, split end Walker Lee and tight end Brooks Williams, were selected in the NFL draft. In addition, Mike Finn, who played a great deal as the number two tight end, has also graduated. In Dick Crum's veer, there will be two wide receivers and a tight end. All of the spots are open going into the fall. However, there is talent at these positions. Bob Loomis, a regular at fullback for the past two seasons, has been shifted to tight end and heads a list of five candidates for that job. He's an excellent blocker and a good pass receiver. Rick Vanhoy, who was red-shirted last year, and Jimmy Roberson, who saw only limited action as a freshman, are expected to push him for the starting slot. Kenny Rogers, who may have the most athletic ability of all the tight ends, and Mike Chatham are also possibilities. Wayne Tucker, Delbert Powell and Carey Casey were the top wide receivers in the spring. Tucker is a super athlete who missed the 1977 season with a jaw infection. Powell has game-breaking speed and Casey had an outstanding spring. Jim Rouse, the number two split end last fall, missed most of the spring work while playing baseball, but should see action.

INTERIOR LINE

Carolina's front-line players here appear to be solid. However, depth may be a problem. Mike Salzano, a third-team All-America last fall, rates as one of the premier guards in the nation. He's one of Carolina's top all-star candidates and gives the Tar Heels a super-star around which to build the rest of the line. The other returning starters are tackles Bobby Hukill and Steve Junkmann. Both should be among the best blockers in the league and could challenge for all-conference honors. Sophomore Lowell Eakin ended the spring as the other starting guard. John Rushing, who began last season as the starter at left guard, has been ruled out this fall because of a knee injury suffered last year. Eakin filled in for him on occasion last season and does have some experience. Rick Donnalley, another sophomore, will replace the graduated Scott Davison at center. He shows a lot of promise for the future. The top reserves at the end of the spring were tackles Ron Wooten and Carl Hackley, center Mark Sugg and guards Donald Lucas, Tim Moore and Gary Weaver. Of those players, only Lucas has seen much varsity action. However, if the Carolina season is to be successful, these men must develop to provide the necessary backup help.

BACKS

The backfield has the potential to be explosive. The main weapon in the Tar Heels' offensive arsenal is Famous Amos Lawrence, a dazzling halfback who had a sensational freshman season. Lawrence finished eighth in the nation in rushing and had an all-time freshman high of 286 yards in one game against Virginia. A veer back in high school, Lawrence has made the transition back to that offense easily. He definitely will contend for All-America honors. Ken Mack, one of the biggest surprises of spring practice, will enter the fall as the other starting halfback. He's a fine all-around player whose best asset may be his consistency. However, there are some other backs who should challenge him for that starting spot. Veterans Terence Burrell, Doug Paschal, Billy Johnson and Phil Farris and newcomers Walter Sturdivant, Mitchell Strickland and Ron DeMarco will battle for playing time. Paschal, Johnson and Farris saw considerable action last year and Burrell had a good spring. Sturdivant was the most impressive of the new men in the off-season work. Matt Kupec, last year's starter, has the inside track on the quarterback position. However, Clyde Christensen, P. J. Gay and Mickey Daniels could push him for that spot.

DEFENSE

THE LINE

Despite the loss of two great tackles, All-America Dee Hardison and All-ACC selection Rod Broadway, the defensive line could again be one of the best in the South. Carolina led the nation in scoring defense last year and the play of the front five was a major reason for that. The major concern here is a lack of depth. The starting line should be solid. The outside linebackers are mobile, the tackles are quick and strong and the nose guard is faster than many backs. Ken Sheets and T. K. McDaniels are returning starters at outside linebacker. Sheets, a pre-season Playboy All-America, figures to be one of the best defenders in college football. He is an explosive player with strength, speed and agility. McDaniels had a fine junior season on the other flank. He also has good quickness and lateral movement. The chief backups should be Harry Stanback, Keith James and Paul Davis. All lack experience. Bunn Rhames and Donnell Thompson, who played behind Hardison and Broadway a year ago, should move into the starting tackle slots. Rhames is a senior with a lot of experience. He is one of Carolina's strongest players and also moves very well. Thompson has great physical talent. He just needs a little more experience to be a top-flight player. However, Mike Argo is the only experienced reserve at this position. Young players like John Brugos, Bob Hammar and Hannon Fry are going to have to develop quickly to supply backup help. Dave Simmons gives Carolina a potential all-star at nose guard. His 4.6 speed may make him the fastest nose guard in America. He could be the big play man in the Tar Heel defense. Bob Duncan returns as a good number two man here.

LINEBACKERS

In Buddy Curry the Tar Heels have one of the great young defensive players in the game. He broke into the starting lineup as a freshman and then had a brilliant sophomore season last year. He has good speed and strength and a nose for the football. He was an All-ACC selection last year and is another in a long line of standout Tar Heel linebackers. Sophomore Rick Downs, who played mainly on the specialty teams last year, ended the spring as the other starting linebacker. He's a hard hitter with a lot of enthusiasm. However, he will certainly be challenged for that spot this fall by Lawrence Taylor. Taylor, a sophomore, saw specialty team action last fall and then had an outstanding spring at outside linebacker. He was shifted inside at the conclusion of the off-season drills. He has tremendous athletic ability and is certain to get playing time. Larry Tedder and Steve Taylor also are in the linebacker picture. Tedder missed all of last season after undergoing back surgery. However, he bounced back to have a good spring. He's another player who has starred on the specialty teams. Taylor is intelligent and a tough competitor. His playing time has been limited, but he has the potential to play.

THE SECONDARY

If Alan Caldwell, an All-ACC performer at strong safety last year, can be replaced, the secondary could be one of the strengths of this Carolina team. The other three starters are back and all three are potential all-conference selections. Senior Bobby Cale, who has intercepted nine passes in the past two seasons, returns for his third year as a starter at cornerback. He has speed, good range and fine instincts. Operating at the other corner will be junior Ricky Barden, who had a superb sophomore season. He suffered a knee injury against Duke last November and missed spring practice, but he will be ready to go this fall. He could be one of Carolina's all-time best defensive backs by the time he graduates. Jay Faulkner, Tyress Bratton and David Singleton should be the chief reserves at cornerback. Bernie Menapace had a fine junior season at free safety and should be even better this year. He's a fine all-around athlete and a vicious tackler. Max McGee is a capable backup. Senior Francis Winters had a great spring and should start at the ram (strong safety) spot. He's got speed, size and quickness. He has played cornerback in the past and has quite a bit of experience. Sophomore Steve Streater shows good promise for the future at this spot.

Noting The Ca

The last time:

Carolina returned a kickoff for a touchdown was Delbert Powell's 98-yard return at Wake Forest in 1976.

Carolina returned a punt for a touchdown was Mel Collins' 42-yard return at Wake Forest in 1972.

Carolina returned an interception for a touchdown was Buddy Curry's 31-yard return at N. C. State last season.

Carolina returned a fumble for a touchdown was Alan Caldwell's 72-yard return against Wake Forest last season.

An opponent returned a kickoff for a touchdown was in 1971 when Coleman Dupree of Tulane had a 100-yard return in Kenan Stadium.

An opponent returned a punt for a touchdown was in 1975 when John Zeglinski of Wake Forest had a 45-yard return at Kenan Stadium.

An opponent returned an interception for a touchdown was in 1968 when Gary Williard of Wake Forest had a 58-yard return at Groves Stadium.

An opponent returned a fumble for a touchdown was in 1968 when Jack Whitley of N. C. State returned one 46 yards in Kenan Stadium.

Carolina won its first major national statistical championship last year when the Tar Heels led the nation in scoring defense. Carolina gave up only 10 touchdowns and 81 points in 11 games, an average of 7.4 points per contest.

Ohio State finished second nationally with an average of 7.7 points per game.

The last time an Atlantic Coast Conference team had won a statistical title was in 1955 when Maryland led the nation in rushing defense.

Carolina led the ACC in total defense (238.5), rushing defense (135.2) and pass defense (103.4), in addition to scoring defense.

Carolina was ranked 14th in the final United Press International poll last season and 17th in the last Associated Press poll.

Carolina's offense committed only 22 turnovers (13 fumbles and nine interceptions) last season. Most of those occurred on the Carolina side of the 50 as the offense rarely put the defense in bad field position.

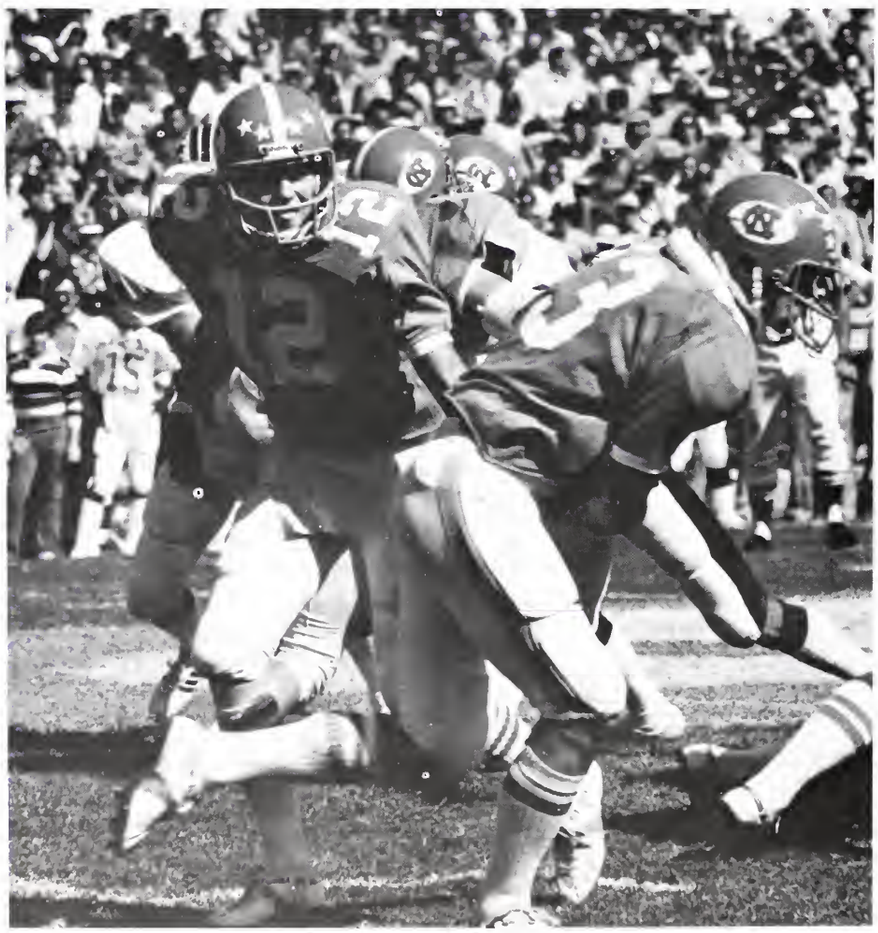
Meanwhile, the defense picked off 18 enemy passes and recovered 23 fumbles for 41 forced turnovers.

That was the most turnovers a Carolina defense had forced since the 1972 Tar Heels, who went 11-1, had 42.

Carolina's Liberty Bowl appearance last December marked the sixth post-season appearance for the Tar Heels in the last eight years.

Carolina's other bowl appearances in that stretch were in the 1970 and 1976 Peach Bowl, the 1971 Gator Bowl and the Sun Bowl in 1972 and 1974.

The only schools which have been to more bowl games than Carolina in the last eight years are Nebraska, Alabama, Ohio State, Penn State, Texas and Southern California.



rolina Tar Heels

Carolina had seven players on last year's All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. The selections were defensive tackles Dee Hardison and Rod Broadway, linebacker Buddy Curry, defensive end Ken Sheets, defensive back Alan Caldwell, offensive guard Mike Salzano and tailback Famous Amos Lawrence.

Hardison, Broadway and Sheets were the top three vote-getters in the defensive line and Caldwell received more votes than any other defensive back. Lawrence and N. C. State halfback Ted Brown were the only unanimous choices on the team.

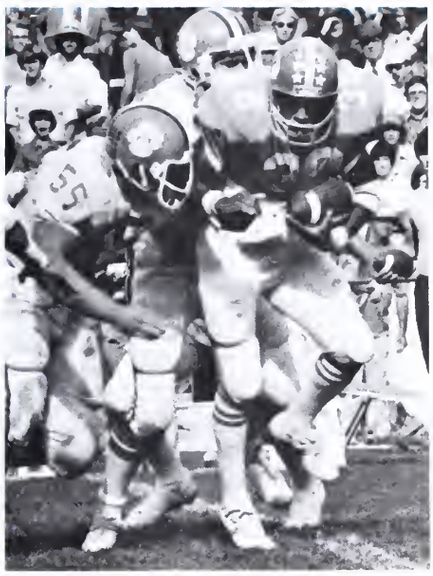
Famous Amos Lawrence finished his freshman season last year with 1,211 yards rushing in 10 games for an average of 121.1 per contest. That made him the first freshman in history to lead the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing.

Carolina backs have now led the league in rushing five times in the last nine years. Don McCauley was the leader in 1969 and 1970 and Mike Voight won the title in 1975 and 1976.

Carolina sold out four of its five home games last season. Because of two standing-room-only crowds, Carolina finished the year 1,850 over capacity.

The Tar Heels drew 47,100 for Richmond, 48,000 for Texas Tech and Wake Forest; 48,250 for South Carolina; and 50,500 for Clemson. That Clemson crowd equalled the largest ever to see a game in Kenan Stadium. Carolina also drew 50,500 for a 1975 game with Notre Dame.

It is expected that every home game this season will be sold out. In fact, Carolina officials had to cancel Youth Day and Band Day this year because of the great demand for tickets.



Carolina has played 742 games against teams that are now classified as major colleges. That is the most of any school in the country. Georgia Tech is second with 688 major opponents, while Georgia is third with 681.

Outside linebacker Ken Sheets of Woodbridge, Va. was selected to Playboy's annual pre-season All-America team. Tar Heel Coach Dick Crum rates Sheets one of the best defensive lineman in the college game.

Sheets and offensive guard Mike Salzano of Durham, N. C. were both named to Southern Living's pre-season All-South team.

When Amos Lawrence ran for 286 yards against Virginia last year, he broke Tony Dorsett's all-time NCAA record for most yards gained rushing by a freshman in one game. Dorsett had 265 against Northwestern in 1973.

That performance against Virginia also set a new school and Atlantic Coast Conference single-game record. The old mark of 279 was set by Don McCauley against Duke in 1970.

Carolina was the only school in the country last year to have a team in a football bowl game, a post-season basketball tournament and the NCAA Baseball Tournament.

When defensive tackle Dee Hardison was selected as a consensus All-America last year, it marked the fourth time since 1970 that a Tar Heel player has been so honored.

The other consensus choices were tailback Don McCauley in 1970, offensive guard Ron Rusnak in 1972 and offensive guard Ken Huff in 1974.

Carolina won the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship for the third time in seven years last season.

The Tar Heels were 5-0-1 in ACC play. Carolina also won the conference title in 1971 and 1972, going unbeaten in the league both years.

Three members of last year's Liberty Bowl team were selected in the National Football League draft last spring.

Defensive tackle Dee Hardison was a second-round pick of the Buffalo Bills. Split end Walker Lee was drafted by the Washington Redskins and tight end Brooks Williams was picked by the New Orleans Saints. In addition, Alan Caldwell and Rod Broadway signed as free agents with the Los Angeles Rams and the Miami Dolphins, respectively.

Carolina shutout two opponents last season, blanking Richmond, 31-0, and South Carolina, 17-0.

The last time the Tar Heels were shutout was in the 1976 Peach Bowl. Kentucky toppled Carolina, 21-0, in that game. The Tar Heels have not been blanked in a regular-season game since dropping a 16-0 decision at Tulane in 1973.

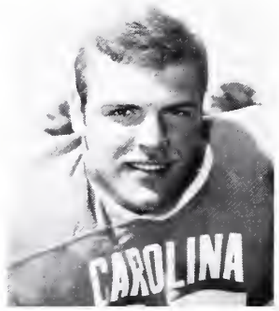
the Tar Heels



95 MIKE ARGO
Defensive Tackle
6-2, 233, Junior
Alexandria, Va.

Finished the spring as the number one backup at tackle . . . Has the potential to battle Donnell Thompson for a starting spot . . . Has added weight since last season . . . Still not as big as some of the other tackles, but makes up for that with excellent techniques . . . Could also be used at nose guard . . . Will probably get as much playing time as the starters in the line because of his versatility . . . Played on the goal line defense last year . . . Thus, he has played in pressure situations . . . Extremely hard worker on and off the field . . . Played on the jayvees as a freshman and behind All-America Dee Hardison last year . . . Interested in art . . . Good cartoonist . . . Enjoys swimming and ice-skating . . . The son of a retired army officer, Mike was born in Italy . . . Majoring in education . . . Would like to be a Navy pilot.

11 RICKY BARDEN
Defensive Back
5-9, 172, Junior
Norfolk, Va.

One of the best defensive backs in the college game . . . Had a sensational sophomore season . . . Second-team sophomore All-America on team picked by the Football News . . . Started every game at left cornerback during the regular season . . . Suffered a knee injury against Duke in the season finale and missed the Liberty Bowl . . . Did not take part in spring practice . . . Super athlete with a good attitude . . . A tremendous competitor . . . Doesn't have great size, but is a sure tackler . . . Very dedicated young man . . . Although he did not practice in the spring, he did work in the weight room to improve his upper body strength . . . Should be ready to go this fall and ranks as a top all-star candidate . . . 96 ROLO LASSITER
Offensive Tackle
6-6, 241, Junior
Boykins, Va.

Moved to offensive tackle from the defense in the spring . . . Showed good possibilities . . . Has played a different position every year he's been at Carolina . . . Stability at tackle should increase his effectiveness . . . Lack of great strength has been his major problem . . . With continued hard work, he can be a capable performer . . . Still has some filling out to do . . . Competed in football, basketball and track at Southampton High . . . Also has played jayvee basketball at Carolina . . . Enjoys hunting and fishing . . . Favorite athlete is Rocky Blier . . . His major is industrial relations.

20 AMOS LAWRENCE
Halfback
5-10, 186, Sophomore
Norfolk, Va.

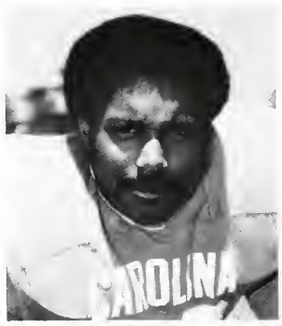
Famous Amos . . . Has already established himself as one of the premier runners in college football . . . Will contend for All-America honors in just his second season . . . Unanimous All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection last fall . . . Named on 124 of 125 ballots as the league's top rookie performer . . . No athlete in the ACC has ever come that close to being a unanimous selection for a one-man honor . . . Not Phil Ford, David Thompson, Don McCauley, Mike Voight or Mitch Kupchak . . . Made the Football News Freshman All-America first team . . . Did not play in Carolina's season opener at Kentucky, but ran for 1,211 yards in his last 10 games . . . Finished eighth in the nation in rushing . . . Led the ACC in rushing . . . Was the first freshman ever to lead the league in a major offensive category . . . Only two freshmen in football history have ever gained more yards in one season (Tony Dorsett had 1,586 in 1973 and Ron Po James of New Mexico State had 1,291 in 1968) . . . Set a Carolina and ACC single-game rushing record with 286 yards at Virginia . . . Had 35 carries in that game and scored twice . . . That also broke Dorsett's NCAA freshman single-game record . . . Those 286 yards were also a 1977 college football high . . . Named National Back-of-the-Week for that performance . . . Only started Carolina's last six games of the year . . . In the first start of his career, he ran for 216 yards against N. C. State on 28 carries . . . As a starter, he averaged 159.5 yards per game rushing . . . Had six 100-yard rushing games . . . Had 101 on 10 carries at Northwestern . . . Also scored his first collegiate touchdown in that game on a 53-yard gallop . . . Had 109 against Wake Forest, 150 against Clemson and 138 against Duke . . . Longest run of the season was a 59-yard scoring burst against Clemson . . . Gained 35 yards on eight carries in Liberty Bowl before spraining an ankle in the second period . . . His 1,211 yards was the third highest single-season total in Carolina history and the seventh highest in ACC history . . . Finished sixth in the league in total offense . . . ACC rookie-of-the-week four times and back-of-the-week once . . . A threat on the halfback option . . . Threw a 20-yard touchdown pass against Northwestern . . . However, he's most famous for running with the football . . . His style of play defies description . . . He carries a football the way Phil Ford moves with a basketball . . . His 360-degree spin has to be seen to be believed . . . Has tremendous speed, balance and explosiveness . . . That explosive acceleration is just what a veer back needs . . . The veer really seems to be his offense . . . Played on a veer team at Lake Taylor High . . . Had one game there where he rushed for 411 yards and scored five touchdowns . . . He still calls that his greatest thrill in sports . . . Parade Magazine High School Back of the Year as a junior . . . Quiet off the field . . . Very determined young man . . . Goal-oriented . . . Works hard . . . Has put on 10 pounds since last season . . . Has a good mind . . . Picks up things such as techniques and concepts quickly . . . Favorite athletes are O. J. Simpson and Julius Erving . . . Majoring in industrial relations . . . While his youth may hurt his chances this year, this young man will be a definite Heisman Trophy candidate as a junior and senior.

43 BOB LOOMIS
Tight End
6-3, 224, Senior
Silver Spring, Md.

Switched to tight end in the spring after playing fullback his first three seasons at Carolina . . . Started at fullback last year after being an alternate starter with Billy Johnson in 1976 . . . New coaching staff feels tight end may be his natural position . . . An under-rated player at fullback, Loomis has the ability to be a star at tight end . . . Picked up things very well in the spring . . . Very coachable . . . Has game experience so that should minimize his mistakes at this new position . . . Has good football sense . . . Excellent blocker . . . Also catches the ball very well . . . Top game last fall was 52 yards rushing on seven carries against Clemson . . . Scored one touchdown on a 16-yard run at N. C. State . . . Had eight carries for 33 yards and caught a 10-yard TD pass in the Liberty Bowl . . . Best rushing performance of his career was against Duke as a freshman when he ran for 75 yards on 17 carries . . . Expected to play a major role in the Tar Heel season . . . Nickname is Bobo . . . Played football, basketball and baseball at Springbrook High . . . Enjoys fishing and golf . . . His dad works for the FBI . . . A recreation major.

63 DONALD LUCAS
Offensive Guard
6-4, 241, Sophomore
Norfolk, Va.

Talented young man on whom the new coaching staff is counting this fall . . . Ended the spring behind Lowell Eakin at left guard . . . Has the ability to be a starter . . . Big and strong . . . Has good quickness . . . Got some game experience last year while John Rushing was injured . . . Started the N. C. State game . . . Made the Football News Freshman All-America team . . . If he continues to mature and develop, he can be a key man as either a backup or starter . . . Played at Lake Taylor High with Ricky Barden and Amos Lawrence . . . Also competed in wrestling and track there . . . Athletes he most admires are Julius Erving and Gen Upshaw.



23 KEN MACK
Halfback
5-11, 194, Senior
Cary, N. C.

One of the biggest surprises of the spring work . . . Started the off-season drills near the bottom of the depth chart . . . Eventually worked himself into a starting role . . . Will come back in the fall as a starter with Amos Lawrence in the backfield . . . Was simply outstanding all spring . . . Consistency is his best attribute . . . Executes well . . . Fine all-around player . . . Good blocker and pass receiver . . . Gained 103 yards rushing in the Blue-White Game . . . One of two winners of the Chuck Erickson Award as the top performer in the spring . . . Hustles 110 per cent of the time . . . Will be tough to beat out this fall . . . Had been moved around a lot in his first three years at Carolina . . . Had been a defensive back and fullback . . . Had only one carry last year and lost a yard against Wake Forest . . . Excellent specialty team player, however . . . Recovered a fumble while covering a kick at Maryland . . . Favorite athlete is Reggie Jackson . . . Has a pet parakeet . . . His dad raises doberman pinschers . . . Was born and grew up in Tokyo while his dad was in the service . . . Played little league football there . . . Also competed in track and basketball at Southern Wayne High . . . Likes Chinese food . . . Majoring in psychology.

92 T. K. McDANIELS
Outside Linebacker
6-3, 229, Senior
Hyattsville, Md.

Started every game last season at this position . . . Had played defensive tackle his first two years . . . Started at tackle early in the 1976 season before being injured . . . Biggest assets are his speed and mobility . . . Those assets made the switch to end (outside linebacker) a natural one . . . Played well last season . . . Teammed with Ken Sheets to give Carolina the best end play in the Atlantic Coast Conference . . . Made nine tackles behind the line of scrimmage last fall . . . Played one of his finest games against Texas Tech with seven tackles and a fumble recovery . . . Missed last spring's contact work because of a wrist injury . . . Did go through some of the drills, however . . . Stayed in good shape . . . Rehabilitation went well . . . Has good size and excellent leverage . . . Outstanding running ability for a man of his size . . . Played football, basketball and baseball at Bladensburg High . . . Led metropolitan Washington in home runs as a high school senior . . . Played on a state championship basketball team with former Tar Heel Bruce Buckley . . . Another in a long line of outstanding Carolina players from the metropolitan Washington area . . . Majoring in recreation . . . Would like to train race horses.

30 MAX McGEE
Defensive Back
5-11, 170, Junior
Tampa, Fla.

Played behind both Bernie Menapace at safety and Bobby Cale at cornerback during the spring . . . Was Menapace's backup at free safety last year . . . Started the Virginia game when Menapace was hurt . . . Made four tackles and broke up two passes in that game . . . Good solid defensive back . . . Very smart and a good thinker . . . Hard worker . . . Has a good awareness on the field . . . Played well in the Blue-White Game . . . Must get a little tougher and more physical . . . Does not have great size, but is a fine competitor . . . Has a keen sense of playing the ball in the air . . . Majoring in botany . . . His quality-point-average was above 3.0 last semester . . . Hopes to go to dental school.

16 BERNIE MENAPACE
Defensive Back
6-0, 192, Senior
Sterling, Va.

Fine all-around athlete who ranks as a leading all-star candidate in his senior season . . . Did a good job last fall in his first year at free safety . . . Played very well against Wake Forest . . . Made four tackles in that game, one for a loss, and intercepted a pass . . . It was also his jarring hit on Ronchie Johnson that caused a fumble Alan Caldwell took 72 yards for a touchdown . . . Had seven tackles against Clemson and caused a fumble . . . Also had seven tackles against Texas Tech . . . Another interception came at Northwestern . . . Made a lot of improvement in the spring . . . Has only been a defensive back two years and he's constantly improving . . . Very smart player . . . Has a knack for the big play . . . Doesn't have tremendous speed, but makes up for that with intelligence and athletic ability . . . Is working hard to get stronger . . . Has improved his tackling and is still working at it . . . Going to get better and better as he gains more experience . . . Could be used as a backup placekicker this fall . . . Came to Carolina as a quarterback in 1974 . . . Spent that fall with the jayvees and then missed the next season with a foot injury . . . Was switched to the secondary early in the fall of 1976 . . . Then when injuries cut down the Tar Heels' top three quarterbacks, he moved back to that position . . . Started Carolina's first five games and guided the Tar Heels to a 4-1 record . . . Did an excellent job until Matt Kupec got some experience and was ready to play . . . Was sensational in a win over Florida that year, running for 77 yards and passing for 64 more . . . Scored one touchdown and threw for another . . . Made one of the biggest plays of the season when he eluded four tacklers and threw a 12-yard pass to Billy Johnson in a fourth-and-six situation in the fourth quarter . . . That set up Carolina's winning touchdown in a 24-21 victory . . . Has also played baseball at Carolina . . . Tough left-handed hitter and a fine baserunner . . . Can catch or play first base . . . A former punt-pass-kick champion.

85 JIM MEYER
Linebacker

Durham, N. C.

A top All-America candidate in his senior season . . . Third-team Football News All-America last season . . . Honorable mention on the wire service teams . . . Has made all of the pre-season checklists . . . Also named to Southern Living's pre-season All-South team . . . Carolina Coach Dick Crum says he's the best offensive lineman with whom he's ever been associated . . . Last year's coaching staff called him the best lineman in the Atlantic Coast Conference . . . Had a superb junior season and made the All-ACC team . . . His blocking opened many of the holes for Amos Lawrence as he ran for 1,211 yards . . . Gave a superior performance in 10 of 11 games last fall and a winning effort in the other . . . Named ACC Lineman-of-the-Week for his play against South Carolina . . . Actually had an even better game against N. C. State . . . Graded 85 per cent against the Wolfpack and threw the initial block on 42 and 53-yard runs by Lawrence . . . Bob Loomis' 16-yard touchdown run in that game was directly behind Salzano . . . That performance came at left guard instead of his usual right guard position . . . Had to play both sides during the season because of an injury to John Rushing . . . On a couple of occasions he actually played both spots in the same game . . . Still did an excellent job despite the fact the blocking assignments were completely opposite . . . Has good size and strength . . . Has great foot movement and quickness . . . Quickness and strength make him very effective as a pulling guard on sweeps . . . A hard worker . . . Leads by example . . . Respected by the younger Tar Heel players . . . Very intelligent player . . . Has a good attitude and is still trying to learn more about the game . . . Already regarded as one of the greatest linemen in Carolina history . . . Even as a freshman he was being compared to consensus All-America Ken Huff . . . Wears Huff's old number 68 . . . Had an outstanding freshman year, earning a starting spot at one of the toughest places for a first-year man to play . . . Playing time was limited as a sophomore because of a knee injury . . . Showed no effects of that in his great junior season . . . Mike had a great prep career at Northern Durham High . . . Prep All-America in football . . . Was state high school shot put champion . . . Although he misses most of the track season because of football, Salzano tosses the shot at Carolina . . . Was third last season at the ACC Indoor Games and fourth at the outdoor championships . . . His father is a doctor and a professor of physiology at Duke University . . . Says his biggest thrill in sports was playing in last year's Liberty Bowl game . . . Relaxes by listening to music and reading . . . Majoring in business administration.

Kenan Stadium

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium—home of the Tar Heels.

It is here in this beautiful natural valley that Carolina teams have played their games for 51 years. This is where the action is—the color, the motion and the pageantry of Carolina football.

Kenan Stadium is generally referred to as one of the most beautiful football arenas in the country. Some say it is THE most beautiful. Little can be done to enhance its natural beauty. In fact, most of the work on the stadium has been directed toward keeping up the natural setting.

William Rand Kenan, Jr. deserves the credit for making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and was an 1894 Carolina graduate. The late Mr. Kenan, who died in 1966, was an international industrialist. He discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry.

The stadium was constructed as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. It was dedicated November 12, 1927 and Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, in the first game played there.

The stadium had a capacity of 24,000 that first season. However, in later years, Mr. Kenan added portable stands in the end zones and then an upper deck to he permanent stands, bringing the capacity to 48,000.

Eight years ago, standing-room tickets were sold for games with South Carolina and Duke and attendance reached an all-time high of 48,500. That record was broken in 1975 when 50,500 fans saw the Tar Heels play Notre Dame. That crowd was equalled in last year's Atlantic Coast Conference showdown with Clemson.

There were four sellouts in Kenan Stadium last year—Texas Tech, South Carolina, Wake Forest and Clemson. Because of standing-room only crowds against the Tigers and Gamecocks, Carolina finished the year 1,850 over capacity.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, weight-training quarters, lounges, meeting rooms and other facilities.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

Six games are scheduled for Kenan Stadium this fall. The Tar Heels will battle East Carolina, Maryland, Miami, N. C. State, Virginia and Duke.

For these games, students, faculty, alumni and fans will converge on the stadium. They will enjoy football at its finest in a stadium that is magnificent.

This is Kenan Stadium and this is where the action is.

The University

Nestled in the rolling foothills of piedmont North Carolina is Chapel Hill, home of the University of North Carolina.

The late artist William Meade Prince once described the town and University as "The Southern Part of Heaven," a tag richly deserved.

Like many things in this small, yet cosmopolitan village of 35,000 people, the magic, romance and beauty that fascinated Prince remain unchanged today.

In fact, Time Magazine has called Chapel Hill, "One of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States."

The school is the oldest state university in the nation, having been chartered in 1789 and opening its doors to students in 1795 while George Washington was president. However, it was not until after Reconstruction that Carolina began making the rapid progress that has lifted it to the top of American education.

Currently, there are 14 colleges and schools and more than 70 departments and other academically-affiliated divisions, institutes and centers at the University.

Strong in the humanities as well as the social and natural sciences, the University has one of the nation's leading journalism schools and a business administration school of special potency commensurate with the growing industrial might of the South.

Carolina is also one of only six universities in the country with a full range of health professional schools on the same campus. UNC's School of Dentistry is one of the nation's best and the Schools of Medicine, Pharmacy, Nursing and Public Health are also well-regarded. North Carolina Memorial Hospital on campus is the University's teaching and research hospital and is a teaching center for hundreds of clinics in North Carolina's 100 counties.

In addition, the University boasts a law school with a national reputation and strong schools in education, library science and social work as well as the outstanding undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences.

The key to Carolina's national prestige, however, is probably its excellent graduate school. A recent rating of graduate schools by the American Council on Education put 12 UNC graduate departments in the highest category and 12 in the second highest. That made Carolina the leader of all universities in the Southeast.

Alan Carter of the ACE described the University as, "the leading southern university, a liberal voice in the region."

The University is continuing to grow as it strives to keep pace with today's changing world. Growth has been especially tremendous in the last two decades. Those years have seen the founding of the School of Journalism, the School of Business Administration, the Carolina Population Center, the WUNC-TV public television station, the Ackland Art Center and a new computer system.

In the same time, building has increased as there are now close to 300 major structures on the Carolina campus. Student enrollment has mushroomed. The faculty has grown to nearly 1,800 members. New courses have been added to the curriculum and old ones revised. Carolina now offers academic majors in some 200 different areas.

Here are some other facts of interest about one of America's great academic institutions:

- Carolina's Morehead Planetarium, the first ever built on a college campus, is one of the most sophisticated in the world. Since 1960, American astronauts in four NASA programs have been trained in celestial navigation at the Planetarium.
- Thirty-one of North Carolina's 64 governors have been graduates of UNC, including current governor Jim Hunt who earned a degree from Carolina's law school.
- One of the best-known organizations on campus is the Carolina Playmakers. Former members include Thomas Wolfe, Paul Green, Betty Smith and Andy Griffith.
- James Knox Polk, the only American president to graduate first in his college class, was an 1818 alumnus of UNC and the 11th president of the United States.
- The William Hayes Ackland Art Center contains European and American art objects dating from 3,000 B.C. and is especially rich in 19th century French painting.
- The Institute of Government on campus is a training center for city, county and state officials and employees. It is also involved in research and consultations for state and local governments.
- The University's television network feeds programs into North Carolina's public schools.
- The libraries consist of the Louis Round Wilson Library, a research library in the humanities and social sciences; the Robert B. House Undergraduate Library; and more than a dozen school and departmental libraries.
- The W. C. Coker Arboretum is a five-acre naturalistic garden on the east edge of the historic campus, containing 400 varieties of ornamental plants and shrubs.
- Another feature is the Institute for Research in Social Science, an organization performing fact-finding duties in sociology, economics, political science, psychology and other fields including race relations, urban studies and regional development.

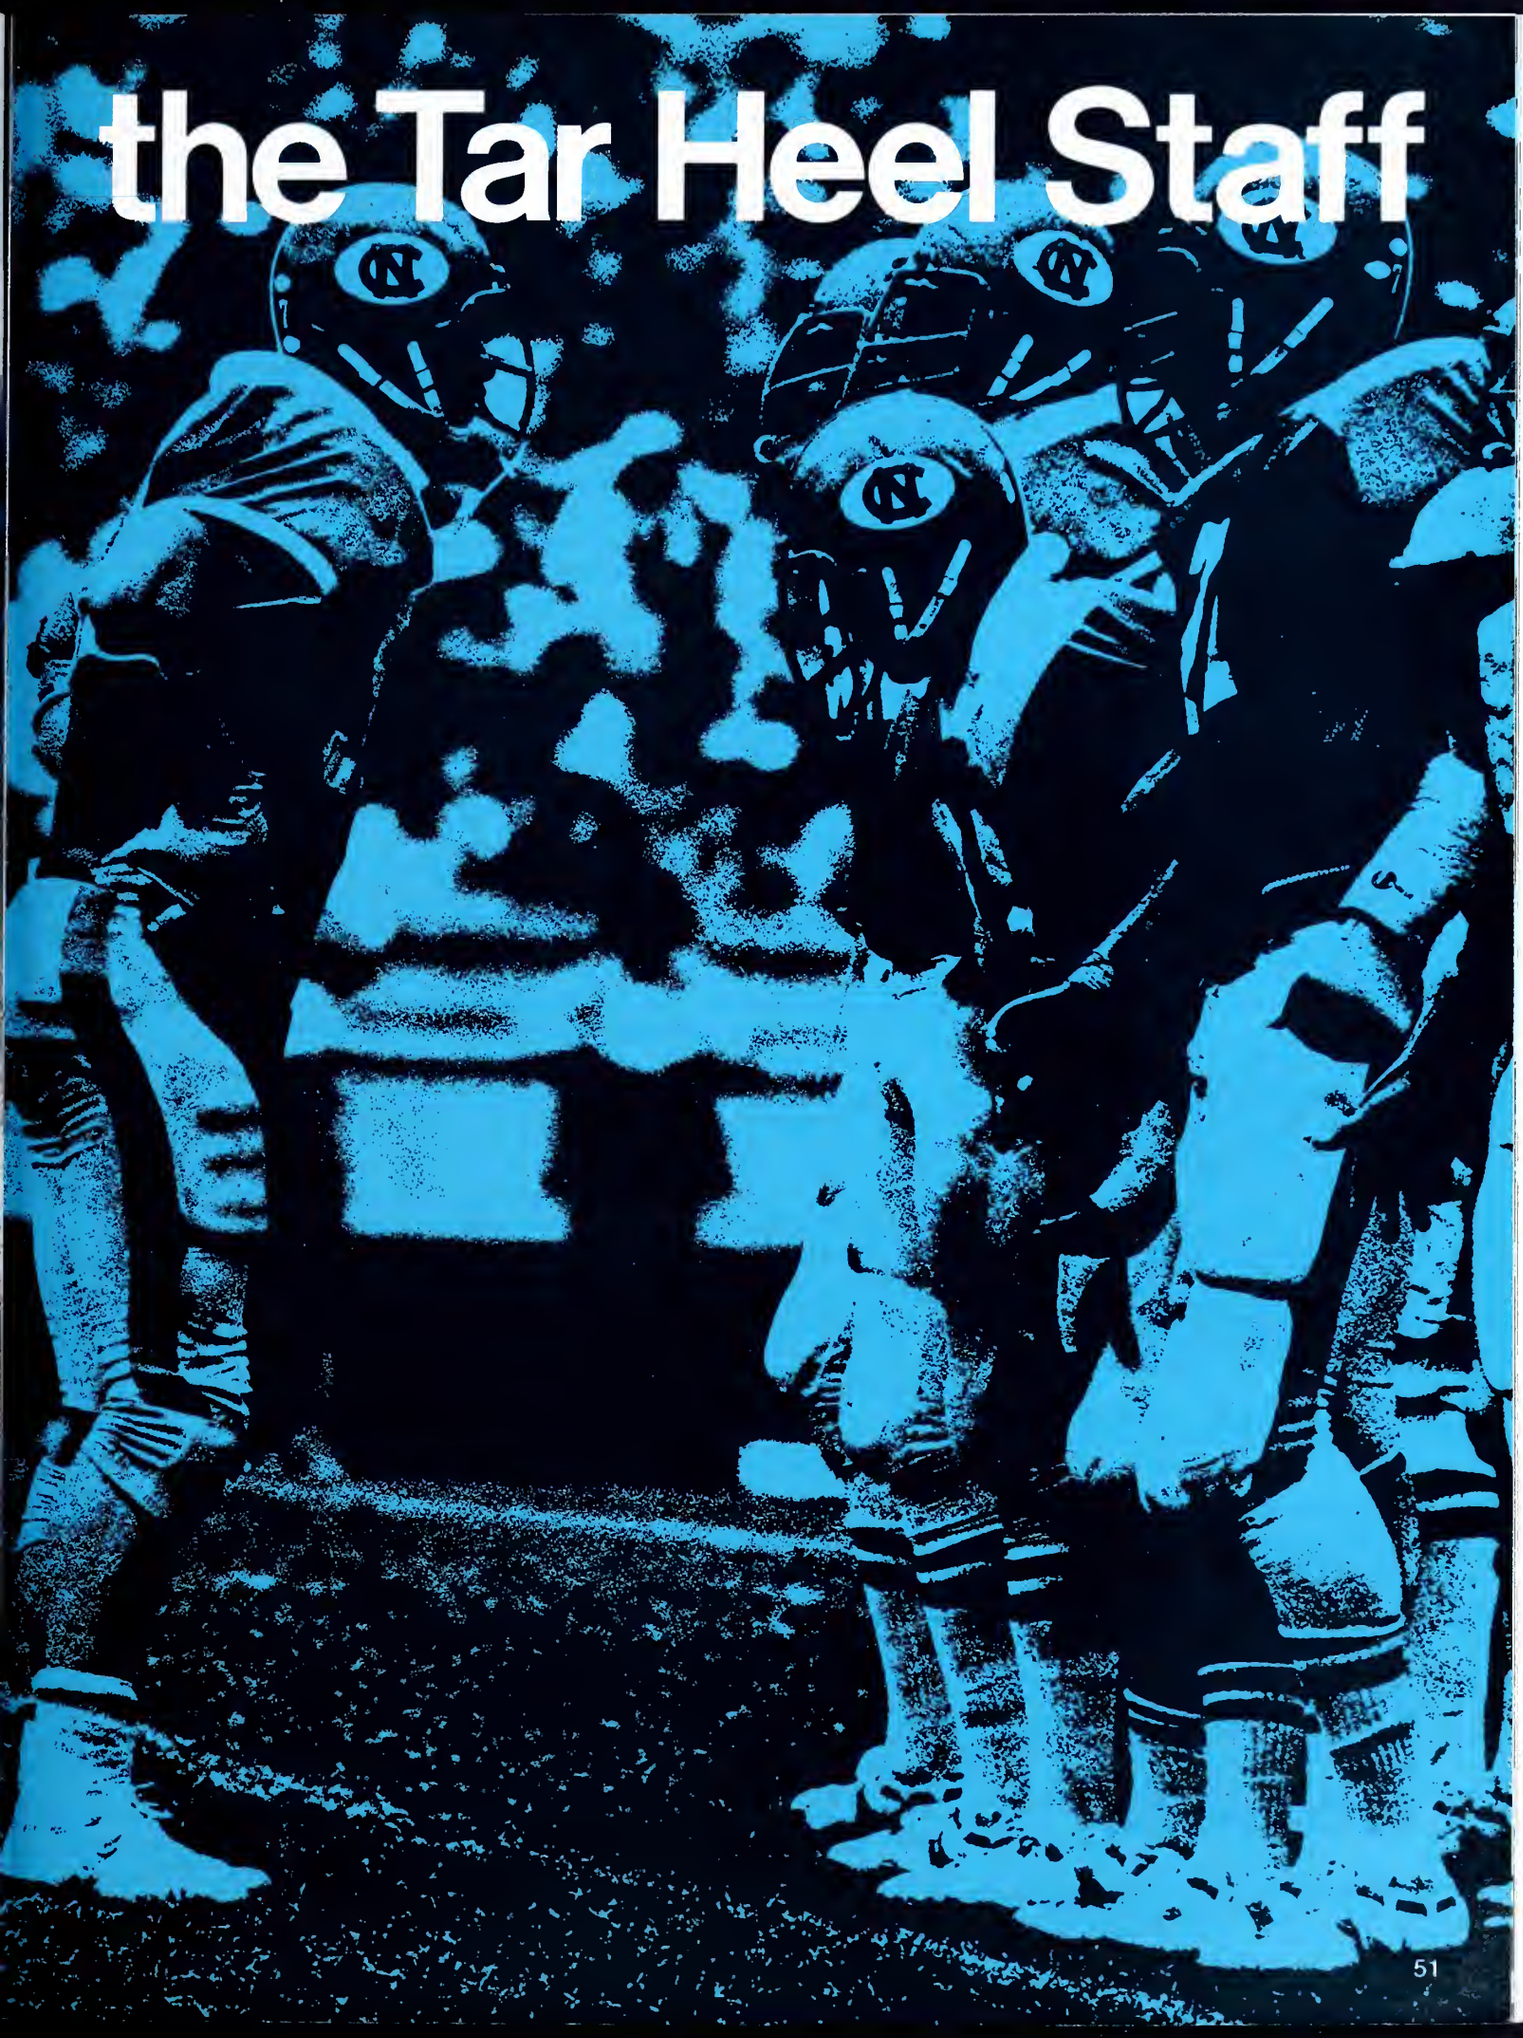
But perhaps the most outstanding feature of the University is the gentle way the new has been blended with the old to form one of the most beautiful campuses in the world.

Ivy-covered buildings and tree-lined walkways surround spacious grassy greens where students lounge between classes. Tall pines cover south campus where modern buildings have been constructed.

In direct contrast on north campus are the South Building, built in the period from 1798 to 1814, and Old East, the oldest building on a state university campus in America. The cornerstone to Old East was laid in 1793 and the dormitory was dedicated as a national historical landmark in 1966.

A visitor to Chapel Hill can't help but notice thousands of cars plastered with bumpter stickers praising Carolina and this beautiful village. The prestige of the University and the natural beauty and pleasant environment of the community lend credence to those stickers' message, "I'd Rather Be in Chapel Hill."

the Tar Heel Staff



Cleve Bryant

Quarterbacks and Wide Receivers

Cleve Bryant, a star quarterback in his playing days, will coach the Tar Heel quarterbacks and wide receivers.

A 1970 graduate of Ohio University, Bryant guided the Bobcats to back-to-back Mid-American Conference championships in 1967 and 1968. He was selected the MAC's Offensive Player of the Year in 1968.

After graduation, Bryant was drafted by the Denver Broncos of the National Football League. He then spent five years in business before joining the Miami staff last year.

A native of Canton, Ohio, Bryant was inducted into the Ohio U. Athletic Hall of Fame in 1975.

Bryant and his wife, Jean, have a son, Rodney.

Charlie Carr

Offensive Tackles and Tight Ends

Charlie Carr, one of the greatest pass-catchers in Tar Heel history, is returning to the Carolina staff after two seasons at Rice University.

Carr was a record-setting end on Carolina teams in 1965, 1966 and 1967. He set an all-time UNC and Atlantic Coast Conference record in 1966 by catching 16 passes in one game against the Air Force. He had 52 receptions that year, tying Art Weiner's school record. His 94 career catches rank him third on the Tar Heels' all-time pass-receiving list.

After graduation, Carr spent two years as a graduate assistant at Carolina and then five as a full-time staff member. He then served as offensive line coach at Rice for two seasons under former Carolina Athletic Director Homer Rice. He joined Dick Crum's Tar Heel staff last winter and will coach the tight ends and offensive tackles.

A native of Virginia Beach, Va., Carr was a three-sport star at Princess Anne High School. He was an outstanding baseball player at Carolina, leading the ACC in hitting his senior year with a .398 average. Carr is also a fine golfer and tennis player.

Charlie is married to the former Dee Harrington of Lumberton, N. C.

Jack Himebauch

Defensive Tackles and Nose Guards

The coach of the Carolina defensive tackles and nose guards is Jack Himebauch.

A native of Rocky River, Ohio, Himebauch is a 1965 Miami graduate. He earned three letters as a tight end under John Pont and Bo Schembechler. He led his team in receptions in both 1963 and 1964. Himebauch had a career total of 43 catches for 614 yards and six touchdowns.

He was an assistant coach under Dick Crum at Mentor High School for four years. He then spent six years as head football coach at Darien High School in Connecticut.

Himebauch was an assistant coach at Fordham University in 1976 before returning to Miami last year. He coached the Redskin tight ends and tackles last fall.

After coming to Carolina with Crum last January, Himebauch was named defensive line coach. He also served as director of Crum's summer football camp for youngsters.

In his spare time, Himebauch likes to play tennis. He and his wife, Cheryl, have three sons—Chris, Curt and Jonathan.

Denny Marcin

Defensive Coordinator and Linebackers

Denny Marcin, who ran Miami University's defense last season, is the new defensive coordinator at Carolina.

In addition to coordinating the entire defense, Marcin will also work specifically with the Tar Heel linebackers.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Marcin was a two-way guard at Miami in his playing days. He received all-conference honorable mention his senior year.

After graduating in 1964, he served as an assistant football coach at Lakewood St. Edward High School for eight years. He then was head coach there for two seasons and had an overall record of 17-2-1. He also was baseball coach for eight years.

Marcin returned to Miami to coach offensive guards and centers in 1974. He became defensive coordinator last season.

Marcin also enjoys wrestling and has officiated on the high school, college and professional level.

He and his wife, Betsy, have four children—Jeff, Denny, Melinda and Susie.

Offensive Coordinator and Guards and Centers

The man who will coordinate the Carolina offense is John Matsko, who has learned his trade from two of the finest coaches in college football.

Matsko played and coached under Don James at Kent State and is beginning his fourth year as an assistant to Dick Crum. James, of course, took Washington to the Rose Bowl last year and Crum is one of the nation's most successful coaches.

Matsko started at fullback for the Golden Flashes in 1972 when Kent State won the Mid-American Conference championship and went to the Tangerine Bowl. He then coached there for one year as a student assistant.

He then spent two seasons as a graduate assistant under Crum at Miami. He coached at Danbury High for one year, compiling a 6-3 record and winning the Mid-Ohio Conference championship, before returning to Miami in 1977.

Matsko will coach Carolina's offensive guards and centers in addition to being offensive coordinator.

A native of Mentor, Ohio, Matsko played for Crum in high school. John and his wife, Kim, have a daughter, Marie, and a baby boy, John, who was born last April.

The Secondary

In his second year of college coaching, Chuck Priefer will work with the Carolina secondary this fall.

A 1963 graduate of John Carroll University, Priefer coached the middle guards and defensive tackles at Miami University last season. He came to Carolina with Dick Crum last January.

Priefer, a native of Parma, Ohio, started his coaching career as an assistant in football, basketball and baseball at Padua Franciscan High School in 1963. He became head baseball coach in 1965 and assistant athletic director in 1966. His eight-year baseball record was 151-59.

As head football coach from 1972 to 1976, he compiled a 34-15 record.

Priefer enjoys good movies, tennis and poker.

He and his wife, Sheila, have four children—Mike, Teri, Jenny and Megan.

Chuck Priefer

Outside Linebackers

Jim Tressler, who worked under Dick Crum for four years at Miami University, will coach the Tar Heel outside linebackers this season.

A native of Steubenville, Ohio, Tressler was a two-way guard at Muskingum College. After graduating in 1962, he went on to get his masters at Akron.

After serving as an assistant high school football coach at Sandusky and Massillon, Tressler joined the staff at Mt. Union College. He spent six years there as an assistant football coach and head wrestling coach. He then went to Miami to work for Crum.

In his time at Oxford, Tressler coached the Redskin outside linebackers (defensive ends) as he will at Carolina. He also doubled as Miami's wrestling coach.

Tressler has a special interest in flying and hopes to get his pilot's license.

He and his wife, Janet, have two daughters, Tami and Christy.

Jim Tressler

Offensive Backs

Success has followed Randy Walker throughout his football career—as both a player and a coach.

A 1976 Miami graduate, Walker played on Redskin teams which compiled a 32-1-1 record. He played on teams which won three straight Mid-American Conference championships and three consecutive Tangerine Bowl titles.

He finished his playing career as the sixth-leading rusher in Miami history with 1,757 yards. He was selected the team's most valuable player in his senior year after playing tailback, fullback and wingback at different times during the season.

A native of Troy, Ohio, Walker was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals after graduation. He worked at Miami as a graduate assistant in 1976 and became a full-time staff member last year.

Walker and his wife, Tammy, have a special interest in music. Both enjoy singing.

Randy Walker

Jerry Sain

Academic Counselor

Jerry Sain is beginning his second year as academic counselor for Carolina's football team.

As academic counselor, Sain will keep tabs on the classroom progress of the Tar Heel players and will counsel them in all phases of their academic work.

A native of Lincolnton, N. C., Sain was a star offensive tackle at Carolina during his college career. He played on Tar Heel teams which went to bowl games in 1970, 1971 and 1972. He was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in both his junior and senior years. He was honorable mention All-America in 1972.

Before returning to Carolina, Jerry had been working with exceptional students at Concord High School. He was also assistant football coach and head wrestling coach there.

Sain is married to the former Bobbie Beam.

Paul Hoolahan

Athletic Fitness Director

Carolina's athletic fitness director is Paul Hoolahan, a former star Tar Heel football player.

Hoolahan was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference tackle at Carolina in 1970. He led an offensive line that took the Tar Heels to the Peach Bowl and helped Don McCauley set an NCAA single-season rushing record.

An outstanding student, Paul received a B.A. in English at Carolina and his M.A. in psychology from Columbia University.

In his position at Carolina, Hoolahan's chief responsibility is to supervise strength development programs for Tar Heel varsity intercollegiate teams. He is beginning his third year on the job.

Before returning to Carolina, Paul had been working as the supervisor of the Aquatics Division of Nassau County Recreation and Parks on Long Island. Simultaneously, he had served as a football coach and director of physical development at St. Francis Preparatory School.

Hoolahan is a bachelor.

Rick Brewer

Sports Information Director

Rick Brewer is beginning his 11th year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his fourth as its director.

A native of Winston-Salem, N. C., Brewer is a 1971 Carolina graduate with a B.A. in journalism.

He served as a student assistant in the sports information office for three years and was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975.

In his three years as SID, Brewer has won awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) for his football brochure, football game program, basketball brochure, basketball game program, tennis brochure, golf brochure and a recruiting brochure for women.

Brewer is a bachelor.

Karen Croake

Assistant Sports Information Director

The newest member of the Carolina athletic staff is Karen Croake, who was named assistant sports information director last summer.

Miss Croake graduated from Purdue University in 1976 where she majored in journalism. She received a masters degree in mass communications from Purdue last spring.

Karen worked in the sports information office at Purdue for the last three years. For the past two years she was completely responsible for publicizing all of Purdue's non-revenue sports.

Generally, Miss Croake's duties at Carolina also center around non-revenue sports. She does assist with Carolina's football game program and in the running of the Kenan Stadium pressbox.

John Lacey/Head Trainer

John Lacey, who was recently named to the Helms Sports Hall of Fame, heads an outstanding staff of athletic trainers at the University of North Carolina.

Lacey, beginning is 23rd year in Chapel Hill, devotes all his attention to the Tar Heel football team during the fall. He works directly with Dr. Joseph DeWalt who heads Carolina's Division of Sports Medicine.

Throughout his illustrious career, Lacey has been associated with championship teams and great athletes. He has worked with 10 football bowl teams, seven of them at Carolina.

One of his greatest honors came in 1972 when he was selected head trainer of the United States delegation to the Olympic Games in Munich. He had served as the trainer for the U. S. basketball team in the 1964 Games at Tokyo.

Another honor came last year when he was named to the athletic trainers' section of the Citizen Savings (Helms) Hall of Fame.

Lacey came to Carolina in 1956 from Maryland when the late Sunny Jim Tatum was named the Tar Heel football coach. While at Maryland, Lacey served three bowl teams and worked with squads which won national championships in football and lacrosse.

At Carolina, Lacey went to the 1963 Gator Bowl with the Tar Heels and also has worked with the six Tar Heel teams which have gone to bowls in the last eight years.

He was also trainer of the 1957 Carolina basketball team which won the national championship and the 1971 team which swept the National Invitation Tournament.

His background also includes stints as trainer with three professional football teams—the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and Baltimore Colts.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., Lacey studied at the Yale University Department of Physical Therapy and at the Tilton School in Tilton, N. H.

Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

1977 OVERALL RECORD: 8-3-0

Outlook

East Carolina University football has produced 50 wins and but 16 losses over the last six years, most of any major football team in North Carolina during that period. The Pirates also rank as one of the nation's 15 winningest Division I teams over that period. With fourteen starters returning, eight on defense and six on offense, along with the starting punter and snapper, there's little reason to believe that this should change in 1978. The Pirates will be a team of great experience with virtually every starter returning, but a team that will be lacking depth in virtually every position as well.

Outlook

If Maryland can come up with a quarterback, the Terps should be in the running for a sixth straight bowl appearance. Gone are Mark Manges and Larry Dick, who shared the signal-calling duties last fall. The rest of the offense appears solid. There are three capable tailbacks in Steve Atkins, George Scott and Alvin Maddox. All are explosive runners. Tackle Larry Stewart and tight end Eric Sievers anchor the offensive line. Defensively, the Terps will again be very strong. Tackle Charlie Johnson, top defensive player in the Hall of Fame Classic, heads a unit that also includes potential stars Neal Olkewicz at linebacker and Lloyd Burruss at defensive back.

1977 OVERALL RECORD: 9-2-1

Outlook

With 46 lettermen returning from last year's seventh-ranked team, Pittsburgh should have another great football squad this fall. The defense could be one of the best in the nation. Seven starters return led by Hugh Green, a sensational end, and strong safety Jeff Delaney. It is on offense where the Panthers face their biggest rebuilding job. Only one starter returns in the interior line, but there is a wealth of backup talent returning from last year. The biggest problem will be trying to replace quarterback Matt Cavanaugh. Soph Rick Trocano, who led Pitt to three wins in as many starts last season, is the top choice. Gordon Jones, who had nine TD catches among his 45 receptions last year, heads the receiving corp. There are a host of candidates for the running back spots, including Fred Jacobs, the number two rusher last year.

Outlook

With 35 returning lettermen, including nine offensive and six defensive starters, off last year's 10-1 team, Miami should have another outstanding season in 1978. Heading the list of returning players for the Redskins are two all-conference selections, defensive end Greg Sullivan and offensive tackle Jack Streicher. Also back is quarterback Larry Fortner who set Miami records last season for completions, passing yards, touchdown passes and total offense. He also threw only four interceptions in 186 attempts. Also returning are the top three rushers from last year and three of the top four receivers.

Outlook

The Wake defense promises to be a young unit beyond its years in experience, particularly in the line. The kids supply the greatest size the stop-unit has had in a long time. If they jell, and if suitable linebackers can be found, this will be a very good platoon. On offense, new head coach John Mackovic brings in a pass-oriented philosophy, which should ably complement the spectacular running of James McDougald. But many positions are without proven personnel. Jackie Robinson will be counted on to anchor an offensive line which must replace four of six starters. In all, the defense will begin ahead of the offense, but John Mackovic's coaching reputation says the Deacs will score their share of points as well.

Outlook

Although 22 of the 60 players who made the 1977 Peach Bowl trip have departed via graduation, the Wolfpack is expected to again field a formidable club. All-America running back Ted Brown, the leading NCAA rusher returning in 1978 with a career total of 3,252 yards, heads up a solid offensive unit. Lettermen will be at all positions except quarterback. Center Jim Ritcher, another All-America potential, anchors the offensive line which also includes standouts in tackles Frank Hitt and Chris Dieterich. Defensively, State lost seven starters, including three-fourths of its secondary. Top replacements must be found for the Wolfpack to challenge for conference honors.

1977 OVERALL RECORD: 5-7

Outlook

South Carolina should have more depth and talent in 1978 than in Coach Jim Carlen's three previous seasons in Columbia. USC started fast with a 4-1 mark in 1977 and then dropped six of the final seven contests to finish 5-7. On offense, running back and receiver are strong and the offensive line first unit is sufficient. Steve Dorsey, George Rogers, Johnnie Wright and Spencer Clark form a strong running quartet and tight ends Willie Scott and Ben Cornett join talented flanker Zion McKinney to give the Gamecocks plenty of aerial targets. Garry Harper had an exceptional spring and moved into the number one quarterbacking slot. If Harper plays up to expectations the Gamecocks could have a successful campaign. Linebacker Tim Singleton and defensive back Rick Sanford are two stalwarts on defense.

With 10 returning starters on defense, Richmond will be counting on strong play from that unit until it can fill some holes on offense. The defense is headed by All-America safety Jeff Nixon and defensive end Ray Chase. Linebacker Orlandus Branch, the team's leading tackler last year, is the only missing defensive starter. Soph Larry Braun should fill that spot. There are six returning starters on offense, including runningback Demetri Kornegay, who led the Spiders in touchdowns last fall. Gone are quarterback Dave Taylor and leading rusher Buster Jackson. Best bets to replace them are sophomores Jimmy Short and Reggie Evans.

1977 CONFERENCE RECORD: 4-1-1

Outlook

With 43 returning lettermen, including 13 starters from the Gator Bowl, Charley Pell has a solid nucleus for his 1978 Tiger football team. Offensively, the Tigers return one of the nation's premier passing combos in quarterback Steve Fuller, the 1977 ACC Player of the Year, and All-America Jerry Butler. Three starters return in the line, led by All-ACC guard Joe Bostic. The key on offense will be finding depth for the line. Three all-league players return on defense—end Jonathan Brooks, linebacker Randy Scott and safety Steve Ryan. There is experience at every defensive position. The kicking game is solid with David Sims, Obed Ariri and Jimmy Russell.

Outlook

Virginia will be a much better offensive football team than it was a year ago. Greg Taylor and Tommy Vigorito are outstanding running backs and Mike Newhall one of the best tight ends in the ACC. Plus, six other starters return, including All-ACC punter Russ Henderson. The Cavaliers could field an outstanding defensive unit with All-ACC calibre players like end Steve Potter, tackles Lee Browning and Grant Hudson, nose guard Mike Budd, cornerback Derrick Glasper and strong safety Tony Blount. "We can be a decent football team," commented head coach Dick Bestwick following spring drills. "We're quicker, bigger, stronger and tougher."

1977 CONFERENCE RECORD: 2-4

Outlook

With quarterback Mike Dunn returning for his fourth year, the Duke Blue Devils should again be an exciting football team. A master of the triple option, Dunn ran for 746 yards last season and threw for 1239 more. Hard running Ned Gonet returns at fullback. Wide receiver Jeff Comer should be Dunn's top passing target. The Blue Devil defense will be built around linebackers Carl McGee and Bill King. They combined for 234 tackles last year. The biggest question marks appear to be the defensive line and the secondary. However, with Dunn running the offense, Duke should score enough points to stay in most games until the defense develops.

Educational Foundation

Ernie Williamson

Carolina's man for all seasons is Ernie Williamson, the executive vice-president of the Educational Foundation.

Regardless of the time of year, Ernie is always on the move—speaking to Foundation members, talking to prospective members and following all of Carolina's athletic teams.

Williamson is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. The native of Crewe, Va. played one season of football here under Carl Snavely and was regarded as an outstanding tackle.

He was lured away to professional football and played with Los Angeles and Washington before a knee injury ended his career.

Ernie returned to Chapel Hill to finish work on his degrees and then went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was an assistant coach there for two years and head coach for three seasons.

He returned to Carolina in 1957 to accept his present position. At one time he also served as a recruiter for the football program.

He is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va. They have a son, Wayne, and a daughter, Carole.

One of the most important organizations in the Carolina Athletic Department is the University's Educational Foundation.

It is the Educational Foundation which makes possible all athletic scholarships awarded by Carolina.

As the Tar Heel sports program has grown through the years, the Foundation has done likewise. It is the enthusiasm and generosity of Foundation members which allows Carolina to field its excellent athletic teams.

"Interest reaches a new peak every year," says Ernie Williamson, the Foundation's executive vice-president. "There are many reasons for this, but the most important has been our great success in all sports the last few years."

The Educational Foundation currently has over 2,500 members who finance a scholarship program that costs over $700,000 a year.

"Since its inauguration in 1938, the Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, for over 2,200 student-athletes," says Williamson. "The majority of these athletes are anxious to return contributions which would enable us to award scholarships to others."

Williamson has always contended that a donation to the Foundation is not specifically a donation to athletics. He says that the high caliber young athlete who is awarded a scholarship is a great representative of the University.

Williamson feels the overall bonus is in helping a worthy young student obtain a college education. Athletics come second.

Any donation to the Educational Foundation is welcome. However, membership in the Rams Club is restricted to those who contribute $100 or more.

Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program was started in 1968 and has been quite successful.

"We have life members of $10,000 and $25,000, endowed scholarships of $50,000 and have just recently enlisted 100 members who have purchased $50,000 scholarships through life insurance," says Williamson. "Several members have also indicated they have included the Foundation in their wills and bequests to enable continued success in the future."

Foundation members receive priority on seat locations in football and basketball. A special room on the south wing of Kenan Field House serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. This area is open two hours before football games and provides a lounge and picnic facilities for those who come early.

"A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and loyalty to the University," Williamson points out. "Many of our finest members did not attend Carolina, however. They just heard about our program and felt it was worthy."

It is important to point out that all donations to the Foundation are tax deductible.

ORIGIN AND INCORPORATION

Three loyal and athletic-minded University of North Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure at Raleigh in December of 1938 and organized the Educational Foundation, Inc.

The men were John Umstead, Jr. of Chapel Hill, Max Abernethy of Raleigh, and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn with these three men as the incorporators and submitted to the late O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization. The charter was issued December 7, 1938.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

The Educational Foundation, Inc. operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessing and good will of all the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status similar to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation, and other money-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

The full amount of all donations of Foundation members is used for scholarships and grants. The organization has no administrative expenses.

Carolina's Bowl History

When Carolina played Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl last December, it marked the tenth bowl appearance for the Tar Heels.

Carolina's post-season trips have been to the Sugar Bowl in 1947 and 1949, the Cotton Bowl in 1950, the Gator Bowl in 1963 and 1971, the Peach Bowl in 1970 and 1976, the Sun Bowl in 1972 and 1974 and the Liberty Bowl last year.

The Tar Heels' bowl history started in the late Forties when Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice was running wild from the single wing. Carolina went to bowl games three times during the Justice Era, but lost all three.

Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched Carolina against Georgia. The Tar Heels led 7-0, but Georgia grabbed the game's momentum on a controversial play and won 20-10. The rhubarb concerned a lateral that set up the Bulldogs' first touchdown. All the Tar Heels claimed it was a forward lateral and the play should have been called back.

Carolina returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later and lost to Oklahoma, 14-6. Justice had a sensational day running and punting, however. Choo Choo was magnificent in the 1950 Cotton Bowl as well, but Rice won the game, 27-14.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance came in the 1963 Gator Bowl. Ken Willard was the big star as Carolina routed the Air Force Academy, 35-0.

Carolina has been to six bowl games in the last eight years. That amazing stretch started in the 1970 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels dropped a wild 48-26 decision to unbeaten Arizona State in that game. All-America tailback Don McCauley had 143 yards rushing and three touchdowns for Carolina. But a second half snowstorm and an injury to quarterback Paul Miller helped the Sun Devils race to victory.

The 1971 Gator Bowl produced a bowl first—brothers opposing each other as coaches in bowl competition. It matched Bill Dooley of Carolina against Vince of Georgia. The game was a great defensive struggle in which the Bulldogs came from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina's most exciting bowl game was the 1972 Sun Bowl. The Tar Heels capped an 11-1 season by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. He fired a 62-yard scoring strike to Ted Leverenz to help Carolina to a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard scoring pass with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then added two more points when Ronnie Robinson dropped Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James (Boom Boom) Betterson had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Mississippi State won another thriller, 26-24. The Tar Heels put on a desperation drive in the game's closing moments, but were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 48-yard line.

Kentucky beat Carolina, 21-0 in the 1976 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels, playing without the injured Voight, had trouble all day against a fine Wildcat defense.

Carolina dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in last year's Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, the Tar Heels held a 17-7 lead going into the fourth period. However, the Cornhuskers rallied behind reserve quarterback Randy Garcia to score their come-from-behind victory.

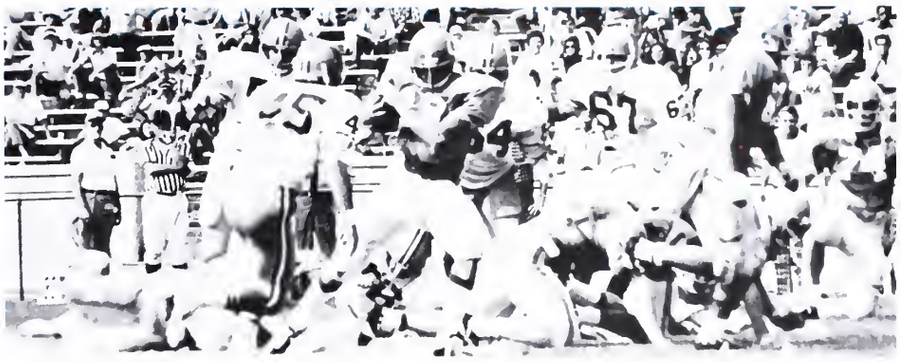
Carolina's 1000-yard Rushers

James Betterson
1,082 yards in 1974



Sammy Johnson
1,006 yards in 1973

Carolina has had six 1,000-yard rushers in the past five years. That's the most of any school in the country in that period.

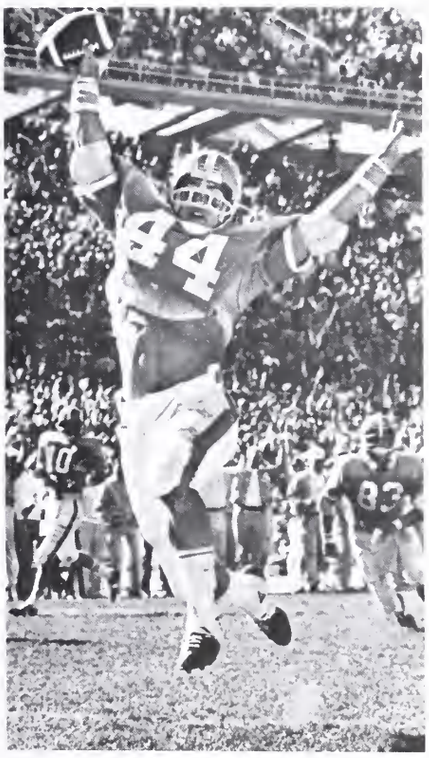
Sammy Johnson reached the magic figure in 1973, Mike Voight and James Betterson in 1974, Voight again in 1975 and 1976 and Famous Amos Lawrence in 1977.

Carolina has had eight 1,000-yard rushers in its football history. Only four schools have had more—Southern California with 10, Arizona State with nine, Oklahoma with nine and New Mexico State with nine.

When Betterson and Voight each ran for 1,000 in 1974, it marked only the fifth time in history that two men on the same team had accomplished that feat.

Don McCauley set the Tar Heels' all-time single-season rushing record in 1970. He ran for 1,720 yards that year, breaking O. J. Simpson's NCAA single-season record.

Don McCauley
1,092 yards in 1969
1,720 yards in 1970



Mike Voight
1,033 yards in 1974
1,250 yards in 1975
1,407 yards in 1976

Amos Lawrence
1,211 yards in 1977
